“ In my college years from the summer of 2009 to the beginning of 2013 I worked at the gast station RnR in Gibbon on the weekends. Throughout those years I saw Harry nearly every single Sunday. He would walk across town, over the overpass and come in for a small cup of coffee before heading back. Rain or shine, he'd be there and I always looked forward to seeing him. We shared many many talks over the years, many involving welding because that's what I went to school for initially. He was a great man and I never forgot him. My grandma told me recently of his passing because she knew how much I cared about him, sad to hear of a good one gone. I'm attaching a picture taken in 2013, my last day at RnR, my favorite customers came to send me off. Harry and his wife are on the left. Sending love to his family.
