“ Larry often walked past our house on his way down town to check the time and temperature, and to visit the Kearney Public Library. He had a great sense of humor and was usually willing to stop and chat. I will miss his amazing smile and the way he was so careful about avoiding cars, even as he walked down the middle of the street.

“ Larry was our neighbor, around the corner. We enjoyed talking to Larry and hearing about his adventures walking around town. He kept a notebook and wrote things he saw throughout the day. Larry told us so many interesting stories and he was always so friendly. He even left us thank you notes at the house when we would share meals with him or take him things he might need. We are deeply saddened to lose our neighbor and friend. Our deepest condolences to the family.
