“ Shad put together a nail bomb and he let me light it. It didnt do what it was suppose to otherwise i probably would have a nail in my skull. Lol just one of the few crazy thing we did in a short time we knew each other. But lighting that was the most exhilarating feeling. Shad and i had our differences but im glad we made amends before he past on. Peace be with you my brother my friend. See you on the the other side.

“ Losing a loved one is never easy. When this happens we should remember to be grateful for the time we spent with our loved ones and know that they're pain and suffering is over, And there in a better place, remember the good times and good things we had with him. May his soul rest in peace.

“ I have so many great memories of Shad. We hung out together during the glory days of our youth and young adult hood. Yeah we knew how to party and I know Alan Caraway and I will never forget the day we met Shad, High five Bro! I last saw him about 2 years ago. He had a good dog and I figured he was alright. Shad you always made me laugh! Love you Bro! Hope we can hang again some day!

“ As the years go by and your either with a family member or with a past high school friend and you begin to reminisce of the good ole days of High School and certain friends pop in your head and you begin reminiscing. Well, "Chad" was always in our memories, I'll never forget a favorable memory when Chad and my brother (Tommy) would have parties at either our house or a friends house and Chad being Chad seem to be very interested in checking out refrigerators to see the food menu of the night was. lol As a joke, my brother and I made these 'special' type of sandwiches that were nicely wrapped and kept in our refrigerator knowing that Chad would raid the refrig and start eating the sandwiches. Well, it turned out Chad didn't really care for the sandwiches and he chased me outside and as a great wrestler he was, you know the rest of the story. :) The reminiscing and memories of Chad will continue, it saddens my heart that he's gone and will greatly be missed. Condolences goes out to the family.
