“ I was so sorry to learn of the passing of your cherished little Spencer. I know how hard it is to lose a child before you can even have the chance to hug them, kiss them and get to know them. His little existence was brief but will last a life time in your hearts. May God grant you the strength to live through each day and to allow you great peace in your loss. I lost a baby once and then a precious grand daughter in January. I know your pain and for this I am sorry that you have to endure such a trial. God Bless You & Your Family
