“ To family and friends, (friend of Troy in FL).
My heart aches for your loss of such a beautiful and passionate person. May the Lord in his way, comfort and guide you through this difficult time. With love and care, Joe Caliri
His beautiful memories will continue on and be shared for ever, I share memories of my beloved brother Peter, who looks down on me and so many others, loving and caring still, just in a different way.

“ In memory of Tyson

One of the greatest reasons we are each placed on this earth is to learn how to love. To love God and to love others. We cannot love God without loving his children. Love can be described in terms of a map. Love is more than just the destination. It's the back roads and byways, the high-speed expressways, the peaks and valleys. Love is everything. There are no detours or shortcuts. Love is the destination and the journey. Love is the only way. Love for the sake of love will always be enough. If our lives are a single flash in the dark hollow of eternity and for the briefest of moments we shine, then how brilliantly our light has burned! As starlight knows no boundaries of space or time, so too our illumination will shine forth throughout all eternity. For darkness has no power over such light. This is the lesson we must all learn and take to heart. All light is eternal and all light is love. -Richard Paul Evans

Love is the ultimate and highest goal any man can aspire. -Viktor Frankl

Tyson, thank you so much for the many jolly memories. Your heart was full of love. You definitely reached the ultimate goal in life, which is how to truly love others. You were such a social butterfly. You could have a pleasant conversation with anyone. You also had the best laugh! I'll never forget how your nose crinkled when you laughed.

Tyson, I hope you felt loved while down here on earth. Now that you are in heaven, I am positive you understand how much we all love you. Our hearts ache for your physical presence; to be able to hug you and tell you how much we love you. Please forgive us if we did not provide you with enough love while you were on earth. Now that you have entered eternal life, our love for you will never burn out.

Love you lots!

“ We met Tyson at Mt. Carmel Nursing Home a few years ago. He was energetic, happy, to the point and most of all so caring to my grandma Shirley. He was able to make her laugh from across the room and they had a special bond, that blossomed. Shirley had Alzheimer's, but Tyson was able to see past that and brought out the best in her. Our deepest sympathy to your family, as Tyson was an amazing person! Steve and Linda Cool, Eric and Nicole Hollingsworth and family.

I met Tyson while he was caring for my mother at the nursing home in Bertrand. She simply loved him. He would spend extra time with her, and even read her my dad's love letters to my mom which was very touching for both Tyson and my mother. Tyson was kind, funny, caring and thoughtful. I'm so sad to hear of Tyson's passing, he touched many lives. RIP Tyson.
